Humorous Paragraphs.
A pious Connecticut horse-dealer said he did not want the Lord around when he was trading horses.
A Portland man has sued a barber for $10,000 damages for cutting off his moustache. The barber apologizes by saying he didn't see it.
A Philadelphia judge has picked up somewhere the absurd idea that witnesses are not criminals. He rebuked a lawyer for badgering one in a late case, and laid down the astounding proposition that a witness should be treated in the same manner as any gentleman would treat a visitor at his house.
An editor, speaking of a rogue, says: "The rascal has broken every bank and jail and Sabbath we have had in this country for the last five years."

A Leavenworth paper tells how "Providence stayed the running edge of the hungry ax" in a domestic quarrel.
Quills—Things taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another.
MORIB EXCITEMENT.—All Christian people have some way of sacrificing to devils. If a devil can be formed, cruelty and the love of it fashions his nature. Deep-seated in human nature is the love of that horrible excitement which comes from the sight of suffering. All nations have some way of enjoying scenes of blood. The old Romans had gladiatorial combats. The Spaniards have his bull fights. John Bull has his pugilistic encounters. In America, the newspaper is our arena. We fill it full of murders, horrible casualties, and details of crimes. Can any one point out on what ground he who delights in reading these annals of crime can condemn the old Romans, the modern Spaniards, or even the frequenters of the cage? The excitement produced by such histories appeals to the lowest and cruellest part of human nature. To seek it is to sacrifice to devils.
It is certain that newspapers would not fill their columns with narratives of crime, if the readers of papers did not demand it. The readers are the makers of newspapers.—Christian Union.

The movement for enabling ministers who have not taken Episcopal orders to preach in Church of England pulpits has taken a new start. The London correspondent of the Sootsman states: "A number of Churchmen and Nonconformists have united together for the attainment of this object. That men like Dean Stanley have long been favorable to it, is of course, well known; but many persons whose theological views are less advanced than those of the Broad Church party, now desire to break down the wall of separation between clergymen and Nonconformist ministers."

WHAT A LITTLE BIRD TOLD.—Before Paris was compelled to capitulate her means of communication with the outside world by balloons and pigeons had been brought into something like satisfactory system. On the 8th, 9th and 10th of January balloons successfully left the city, and on the 10 a pigeon arrived with despatches which, when printed, filled four columns of the newspapers, and with fifteen thousand messages for private individuals. This extraordinary compression of mail matter into so small a compass was due, of course, to microscopic photography, but the pigeon certainly deserved the decoration of the Legion of Honor.

"A. B. to C. D., Dr. January 20, 1865. To doing your chores; such as drawin water, chopin wood and feedin cattle three weeks while you lay drunk, $21." The above, says the Coos Republican, saving the parties' names is a verbalis et literatim copy of an account presented before the auditor for allowance in a lawsuit in Merriamack county within five years.
Mark Twain, whose horse was so thin that he had to lean against a tree to think, was considerably beaten by a long, cadaverous specimen of humanity just in from the country, who said that he had a brother living in Cairo so poor that the sun would shine through him, and that he had to put on an overcoat to make a shadow.
